The payment gateway supported the following payment methods:

- Debit Cards – RuPay, Visa, MasterCard and Maestro
- Credit Cards

- Cash Cards

- UPI

Candidates were required to follow the instructions displayed on the online payment gateway while completing the transaction.

How to Confirm IBPS PO Fee Payment?

After successful payment of the IBPS PO Application Fee, the system generates an e-receipt. Candidates were advised to save or print both the e-receipt and the system-generated online application form containing the fee-payment details.

Payment Confirmation: If an e-receipt cannot be generated after the transaction, IBPS states that the online transaction may not have been successful. Candidates were advised to log in again using their provisional registration number and password and complete the payment.

Important Instructions While Paying IBPS PO Application Fee

Candidates should follow the payment instructions carefully because an unsuccessful fee payment can make an otherwise completed application invalid.

- Verify all entered information before clicking the final registration button.
- Use only the payment gateway provided within the official IBPS application portal.
- Do not press the browser's Back or Refresh button while the transaction is being processed.
- Wait for the server to display the payment result after entering payment details.
- Save the generated e-receipt after successful payment.
- Keep a copy of the completed application form showing fee-payment details.
- Bank transaction charges, if applicable, have to be paid by the candidate.
- An application with unsuccessful fee/intimation-charge payment is not treated as a valid completed application.

IBPS PO Application Correction Fee

IBPS also provided a separate edit window after completion of the registration process. For CRP PO/MT-XVI, the application edit window was available from 29 July to 30 July 2026.

The fee for modifying or correcting the application through the edit window was:

IBPS PO Application Correction Fee: ₹200 inclusive of GST

Applicable uniformly to candidates of all categories.

The correction fee was separate from the original IBPS PO application fee. According to IBPS instructions, the correction fee once paid was non-refundable and could not be adjusted against any other examination.

Can the Category be Changed During the Edit Window?

IBPS permitted category correction only within prescribed combinations during the edit window. Candidates originally registered under GEN/EWS/OBC (NCL) could change to an eligible category including SC/ST/PwBD, subject to the official rules.

However, where a candidate changed the category from GEN/EWS/OBC to SC/ST/PwBD, IBPS clearly stated that the application fee already paid would not be refunded.

What Happens If IBPS PO Fee Payment Is Unsuccessful?

An unsuccessful fee payment means the application process has not been successfully completed. During the active application period, IBPS advised such candidates to log in again using their provisional registration number and password and make the online payment.

After successful payment, candidates should ensure that an e-receipt is generated and the application form reflects the fee-payment details.

IBPS PO Application Fee Receipt

The e-receipt is an important confirmation of a successful fee transaction. Candidates should retain the following documents for future reference:

- IBPS PO e-receipt
- System-generated online application form
- Provisional Registration Number
- Password
- Payment details/reference, wherever available

These documents were for the candidate's records and were not required to be sent physically to IBPS or the participating banks.
