Considering the first stage of basic pay and standard components such as Special Allowance, Transport Allowance, DA and HRA, the indicative monthly gross salary is around ₹42,442. IBPS RRB Clerk Pay Scale

The current IBPS RRB Clerk pay scale for Office Assistant (Multipurpose) follows the revised clerical salary structure:

₹24,050-1,340/3-28,070-1,650/3-33,020-2,000/4-41,020-2,340/7-57,400-4,400/1-61,800-2,680/1-64,480

This means the basic pay begins at ₹24,050 at the first stage. Three annual increments of ₹1,340 take the basic pay to ₹28,070. The employee then receives three increments of ₹1,650, followed by four increments of ₹2,000 and seven increments of ₹2,340. Thereafter, one increment of ₹4,400 raises the basic pay to ₹61,800, followed by an increment of ₹2,680 to reach the maximum basic pay of ₹64,480.

IBPS RRB Clerk Salary Structure

The IBPS RRB Clerk salary structure contains much more than basic pay. Under the current salary framework, an Office Assistant receives applicable allowances in addition to basic salary. The following calculation illustrates the first pay stage using the DA rate applicable in September 2026.

Salary Component	Indicative Monthly Amount
Basic Pay	₹24,050.00
Special Allowance – 26.50% of Basic Pay	₹6,373.25
Transport Allowance	₹850.00
Dearness Allowance – 27.83% on DA-eligible pay	Approx. ₹8,703.35
House Rent Allowance	Approx. ₹2,465.13
Indicative Gross Salary	Approx. ₹42,441.73

The above IBPS RRB Clerk gross salary is an indicative calculation based on the first stage of the current scale. Employees who receive additional admissible payments or acquire higher basic pay through increments can receive a higher gross salary.

IBPS RRB Clerk In-Hand Salary

The IBPS RRB Clerk in-hand salary is the amount credited after applicable deductions are made from gross earnings. At the first stage of the current pay structure, the take-home salary can generally fall around ₹37,000 to ₹40,000 per month.

The actual amount may differ because Regional Rural Bank employees can have deductions towards the applicable pension/NPS arrangement, professional tax where applicable, income-tax/TDS based on the employee's taxable income and tax regime, and other authorised deductions. If bank accommodation is provided, HRA treatment can also affect the final salary.

Therefore, candidates should not treat any single online figure as a universally guaranteed RRB Clerk salary in hand. The final salary slip issued by the allotted Regional Rural Bank is the correct record for an individual employee.

IBPS RRB Clerk Allowances

Dearness Allowance

Dearness Allowance is an important part of the IBPS RRB Office Assistant salary. It is revised periodically according to the applicable banking wage formula. For August, September and October 2026, the applicable DA rate under the current structure is 27.83%. Because DA changes periodically, the gross and in-hand salary can also change even when basic pay remains unchanged.

House Rent Allowance

Under the revised workmen salary framework, HRA is calculated at 10.25% of eligible pay. Where accommodation or quarters are provided by the bank, the HRA treatment can differ according to applicable service rules.

Special Allowance

A Special Allowance of 26.50% of basic pay forms an important part of the current salary structure. Dearness Allowance is also applicable on this component under the wage settlement provisions.

Transport Allowance

Clerical and subordinate staff under the applicable wage structure receive a Transport Allowance of ₹850 per month, with applicable DA thereon.

IBPS RRB Clerk Salary After 5 Years

The IBPS RRB Clerk salary after 5 years increases substantially because of annual increments and revisions in DA. Starting from ₹24,050, the scheduled basic pay progresses through ₹25,390, ₹26,730, ₹28,070, ₹29,720 and then ₹31,370 after the corresponding annual stages. Therefore, after five completed annual increments, the basic pay reaches approximately ₹31,370, subject to the applicable service conditions.

Since allowances such as Special Allowance, DA and HRA are linked directly or indirectly to pay, an increase in basic pay also raises the overall monthly salary.

IBPS RRB Clerk Job Profile

The salary is accompanied by significant customer-service and branch responsibilities. An Office Assistant (Multipurpose) may handle cash receipts and payments, customer queries, deposits and withdrawals, account-related work, KYC documentation, clearing and remittance activities, data entry, record maintenance and assistance in implementing banking and government financial-inclusion schemes.

Because RRB branches primarily serve rural and semi-urban areas, employees may also assist customers with agricultural banking, government benefit schemes, digital banking services and basic financial awareness.

IBPS RRB Clerk Career Growth

The IBPS RRB Clerk career growth provides opportunities to move from the clerical cadre to the officer cadre. Eligible Office Assistants can compete for promotion to Officer Scale I through the internal promotion process, subject to service regulations, experience requirements, vacancies and the promotion policy of the respective Regional Rural Bank.

After entering the officer cadre, further career progression can take place through higher officer scales according to the bank's promotion rules. Annual increments, qualification-related benefits where admissible and periodic wage revisions can also improve earnings during service.

Is IBPS RRB Clerk Salary the Same in Every RRB?

The basic RRB Office Assistant pay scale follows the approved RRB wage structure, but the exact monthly salary credited to two employees does not necessarily have to be identical. Differences may arise because of deductions, accommodation, additional admissible benefits, taxation and individual service circumstances.

IBPS conducts the recruitment process, whereas the selected candidate becomes an employee of the allotted Regional Rural Bank. Candidates should therefore distinguish between the official pay scale and an estimated take-home salary.
